IIChE STUDENTS CHAPTER

Report

Seminar on Refinery and petrochemical complex configuration" by Mr Alok Kumar, Senior process Manager, Engineers India Ltd. on 19th September 2020

A seminar on “Refinery and petrochemical complex configuration” was organized by online mode in Chemical Department on 19th September 2020 Mr Alok Kumar, Senior process Manager, Engineers India Ltd. was the expert for the seminar. The refining industry has been undergoing evolution triggered by internal competition and the pursuit of higher gross refinery margin. He explained the two factors have been shaping the complexity of today’s refining industry with respect to

1. The dynamics of the downstream market
2. Advances in refining processes/configurations.

He said that the combination of process units the refinery and has its own configuration. The more units a refinery has, the better its ability to run lower-quality (cheaper) crude grades, and to make a high proportion of light (higher-value) products such as diesel and gasoline. He also elaborated about flare system. He said that refinery flare systems are primarily intended to contain and dispose of vapor releases, but must also be capable of handling liquids which may be released to them as a result of unit upsets, equipment failures, emergencies or disoperation’s. Liquids may also collect in the system due to condensation of heavy, hot vapors or steam if they are released into the system. The flare itself is intended only to burn vapors, so any liquids released into the flare header system must be separated from the flare vapor and separately handled. He illustrated opportunities in petroleum field. Dr. Kavita Kulkarni gave vote of thanks.

A seminar on “Opportunities in Chemical Engineering” was organized by online mode in Chemical Department on 23rd November 2020. Ms Divya Saini, Product Development Manager, Umicore Autocat, Pune was the expert for the seminar. She elaborated about chemical engineering opportunities in various field. She said that Chemical engineers work with ground-breaking technologies to enhance the quality of people's lives in areas such as environmental protection, the management of resources, and controlling health and safety. She said that, in the current scenario, chemical engineering is significant as there is a global shift towards renewable resources such as hydroelectric and solar. These fields require innovation and development to make sure that these resources can meet our energy needs. The major responsibility of the chemical engineers is to apply the principles of physics, chemistry, mathematics and biology to solve the problems that involve the production or use of chemicals, drugs, food and many other products. The design equipment and processes for large-scale manufacturing and direct facility operations. She explained about her work in catalytic area and motivated to students by giving various examples. Dr. Kavita Kulkarni gave vote of thanks.
