Sensitization Program on Ethical Principles underlying AETCOM –
Teaching and Assessment, 28th to 29th June 2021

Report

AETCOM module is the new essential addition in the CBME UG curriculum. Many of these AETCOM modules, particularly those to be covered from Phase 2 onwards, dwell heavily on Ethical Principles. Understanding of these principles will be integral to effective conduct of the T-L sessions of these AETCOM modules.

With this view, a two day Sensitization Program on Ethical Principles underlying AETCOM Modules – Teaching and Assessment was organized for the faculty of our institute in order to facilitate effective teaching and assessment of AETCOM. The GSMC MUHS UNESCO Bioethics Unit graciously agreed to conduct this program 'Online' for our faculty.

The program conducted on ZOOM introduced the basics of Ethics and Bioethics related to the Ethics of Medical Practice and then addressed in detail the AETCOM modules to be covered in Phase 2, through interactive sessions, including small group activities using breakout rooms.

Participants for this workshop conducted on 28th, 29th June were primarily the Phase 2 faculty members with representation from other departments as well. Apart from the 36 faculty members formally registered for the workshop, other faculty members could join as observers as and when free from their clinical duties.

All the sessions were very informative and conducted in interactive manner, with focus on enabling both conduct of teaching and assessment of the phase 2 AETCOM modules (2.1 to 2.8). They kept the participants actively engaged despite the online mode of the workshop. The workshop will surely benefit the Phase 2 faculty embarking on implementation of the AETCOM modules.

Curriculum Implementation Support Program – CISP-II
22nd, 23rd September 2020

Report

28th Sept 2020

The Curriculum Implementation Support Program – II (CISP-II) was organized at Bharati Vidyapeeth Deemed to be University Medical College, Pune, on 22nd, 23rd September 2020. In view of COVID 2019 pandemic, it was conducted as 'ONLINE' workshop, ie, our participants and resource persons were present in the WS hall, but the MCI Observer attended online.

Elaborate arrangements were made to enable continuous online interactive audiovisual access to the MCI observer throughout the 2 day workshop proceedings. To maintain physical distance between participants in view of the COVID Pandemic, the venue was shifted to the 1st floor Examination hall, with just 2 participants seated at each table.

It was organized under the aegis of MCI Regional Centre, Armed Forces Medical College, Pune, with online attendance of the MCI Observer Dr. Kalpana Kulkarni, Associate Professor, Pathology, BJ Medical College, Pune. Since we are in the same town, we would have loved to have her with us at the workshop venue, as the 'online' presence did put a little constraint to her contributions.

Although 30 faculty members across the departments had enrolled for the program, there had to be some changes due to the current volatile situation, including 3 replacements and 1 last minute dropout due to health reasons. Out of the 29 faculty members who could actually participate, 5 were from Preclinical, 11 from Para clinical, 7 from Medicine & allied and 6 from Surgery & allied. Representation across hierarchy of seniority was 8 Professors, 11 Associate Professors, 9 Assistant Professors and 1 Tutor (Post PG). All participants actively participated in the workshop, making the sessions fruitful and lively.

Workshop resources created by MCI and shared with us by the MCI Nodal center, GSMC, Mumbai and the MCI Regional Center, AFMC, Pune, helped us to convincingly get across to the participants the essence of various aspects of the new CBME Curriculum, generating confidence about the need and the feasibility of implementation of these changes.

As far as prior knowledge is concerned, the participants were a mixed batch, because 7 participants had not attended the Revised Basic Workshops conducted earlier. The pace and the focus of the WS sessions had to be adjusted to accommodate all.

Participants were greatly impressed by the tremendous work put in by the MCI committees and subcommittees to bring out such a well-defined Competency Based Curriculum, as evidenced in the 3 volumes of the revised

UG Curriculum giving subject wise details and rest of the modules, including the GMER 2019 and CISP-LRM documents to guide us in its implementation.

The logical sequence of sessions starting from Goal, roles and associated competencies expected of a graduate, through appropriate choice of T-L methods, assessment methods helped achieve these workshop objectives. The participants got 'hands on' experience through group / individual tasks linked with the sessions, taking them towards actual implementation of these concepts.

Fourteen members of the Curriculum Sub Committees (CSCs) formulated by the college for implementation of the new curriculum as per MCI directives were participants in this workshop. Walking them through the CISP including the Curricular Governance made them aware of the magnitude of work which lay ahead. During the last session, however, most participants expressed their belief that though huge, the task was definitely doable. They appreciated the opportunity of electives being offered to the students and came out with wonderful ideas for the electives to be offered. They have been provided a format for submitting more structured plans after thrashing it out in their own departments and arriving at a departmental consensus.

Participant Feedback about the entire workshop was very positive, although it was a little revision for the participants who had recently attended the revised basic WS. Good pretest score of these RBCW literates confirmed the effectiveness of the RBCWs conducted an year ago. Along with the quality of the interactive sessions and knowledgeable inputs from the resource persons to refine the hands on activities allocated to them, the participants also appreciated the elaborate arrangements made to conduct the workshop, ensuring all the necessary precautions mandated by the COVID Pandemic situation.

Many expressed the need to sensitize the entire faculty of the college about the curricular innovations to be brought in, in order to enable effective implementation.

ME faculty is all geared up to undertake more of these workshops and many faculty members are waiting to participate. All are awaiting signal from the MCI to schedule further sessions of the 'revised Basic WS and AETCOM'.

Report – 4th Revised Basic Workshop in Medical Education Technologies

Fourth Revised Basic Course Workshop in Medical Education Technologies, was conducted at Bharati Vidyapeeth Deemed to be University Medical College, Pune, on 15th to 17th March 2021, as per the NMC guidelines, under the aegis of NMC-RC, Armed Forces Medical College, Pune. Dr. Kalpana Kulkarni, Associate Professor, Department of Pathology, BJ Govt Medical College, Pune, attended as the NMC Observer for this workshop and enriched the sessions with her valuable contribution.

Twenty nine faculty members participated in this workshop, comprising of 11 Professors, 7 Associate Professors, 9 Assistant Professors and 2 Tutors, of which 4 participants were from Preclinical departments, 5 from Para-clinical Departments and 20 from Clinical departments. Two participants had to be replaced at the last minute because of health reasons of the earlier enrolled members, while one participant could not attend the workshop because of urgent administrative commitments due to resurgence of COVID.

Considering the need for ‘distancing’ in view of prevalent COVID situation, the workshop venue was shifted to a larger Hall instead of the ME Unit premises. The arrangement and observance of all the COVID precautions were appreciated by the participants and the NMC Observer. Despite care taken by all resource persons to ensure adequate font size in view of the shift to this deep hall, readability from the furthest table was a little problematic for some slides.

Over all feedback about the workshop given by the participants both verbally and in the semi structured proforma was good, with appreciation of interactive sessions, incorporation of ‘hands on’ activities in most sessions, as well as the logistic arrangements.

Participants also appreciated the in depth guidelines given by NMC for implementation of the CBME curriculum, in terms of the phase wise curriculum documents and various modules addressing the specific components of the curriculum.

Since many more faculty members are waiting to undergo this training, permission from NMC to organize further workshops is earnestly awaited.

April 24

India (IST) 10.00 am – 12.30pm

India (IST) 14.00pm – 16.30pm

Due to the overwhelming response from our first two workshops and the full support of the Association of Indian Universities, QASPIR has opened an exclusive and limited follow on workshop for the participants of Online Learning for Faculty.

Educational Technology has huge potential to change both teaching and learning. There's been a move away from traditional lessons, where a lecturer is simply delivering information to a passive audience. With the use of technology, you're able to enhance and also extend the learning environment. It's integrated more within your lessons. It's becoming the norm. But it just makes a lot of things more convenient. It allows us to use resources from across the world in our own teaching. So, to maximise the time that we have with students. It's made us interact more, because it's something new. It's always nice to adopt new things.

We have the ability with the use of technology to use things that young people use in their day to day life, to help them learn makes learning more accessible. It means that students can be very independent with their learning, and take more control, rather than relying on the instructor and waiting for them, or other students in the class as well.

This course opens instructors up to a much wider range of resources, showing you what to look for and how to choose. Students these days demand more and expect more, so the idea of using technology in education is a necessity. This course will cover a wide range of educational technologies including polling and survey tools, flipped learning, feedback and assessment tools, quizzes, animation, screen-casting and much more.

Educational Technologies: What to look for and how to choose

April 22. 10.00am / 14.00pm

Module 1: Technologies for Content Creation

- Enhancing tools and materials you already use
- Low-tech, low-complexity video recording
- Using small interactive tools with big impact
- E-learning developing tools

By the end of module 1, you should be able to:

1. Explain how some of the tools available might help with certain learning objectives
2. Start making informed decisions about which tools you might try in your own context.

April 23. 10.00am / 14.00pm

Module 2: Personalisation with tools for learning

- Serving diverse audiences
- Giving control to learners
- Making your online materials accessible

By the end of module 2, you should be able to:

1. Understand how to make most of your online teaching materials accessible
2. Understand what alternative formats may be needed in online teaching.

April 24 10.00am / 14.00pm

Module 3: Technologies for social communication

- Networking and collaboration tools for promoting online community
- Social technologies for enhancing online presence
- Benefits of support networks and how to develop them

By the end of module 3, you should be able to:

1. Understand the benefits of networks to the online instructor
2. Develop useful online networks to augment your teaching practice.

Instructors:

Dr Katharine Jewitt

PhD, MSc, MBA, MRES, MEd, MA, MA (ODE) (Open), BA (Hons), FHEA, FRSA, FSET, CMALT

Dr Katharine Jewitt is a Visiting Honorary Associate in The Open University's Faculty for Science Technology Engineering and Mathematics, an independent Educational Technology and Management Consultant and a researcher at University of Glasgow's School of Education. She has worked and researched online education and technology for over 20 years. Previously, Katharine was Director of Teaching, Learning Curriculum and Quality at Prospects College of Advanced Technology and has held senior positions in industry, including DHL, Exel and Fujitsu. Katharine has significant experience of the development and implementation of digital strategy in many FTSE 100 organisations and throughout her career has worked internationally including Europe, USA, UAE and Africa.

Katharine is particularly interested in how technology enhanced learning can help people to develop key life skills and realise their full potential. In 2015, Katharine was awarded a digital learning fellowship funded by The Education and Training Foundation, to lead a transformational project to develop and implement a digital learning strategy, for delivery of vocational education of the future. She has worked with county councils in England to build an online distance education system for young people excluded from school to be educated from their home. She also developed a virtual learning environment to support and enhance psychological well-being for young people going through key life transition points and developed virtual reality training systems with councils to support newly qualified social workers working with vulnerable children and young people. For her PhD research, she worked with SMEs, using virtual reality to support apprentices' work-based learning, developing a three-way partnership between education provider, SME and apprentice.

Dr Katharine Jewitt

Dr Katharine Jewitt is a Visiting Honorary Associate in The Open University's Faculty for Science Technology Engineering and Mathematics, an independent Educational Technology and Management Consultant and a researcher at University of Glasgow's School of Education. She has worked and researched online education and technology for over 20 years. Previously, Katharine was Director of Teaching, Learning Curriculum and Quality at Prospects College of Advanced Technology and has held senior positions in industry, including DHL, Exel and Fujitsu. Katharine has significant experience of the development and implementation of digital strategy in many FTSE 100 organisations and throughout her career has worked internationally including Europe, USA, UAE and Africa.

Katharine is particularly interested in how technology enhanced learning can help people to develop key life skills and realise their full potential. In 2015, Katharine was awarded a digital learning fellowship funded by The Education and Training Foundation, to lead a transformational project to develop and implement a digital learning strategy, for delivery of vocational education of the future. She has worked with county councils in England to build an online distance education system for young people excluded from school to be educated from their home. She also developed a virtual learning environment to support and enhance psychological well-being for young people going through key life transition points and developed virtual reality training systems with councils to support newly qualified social workers working with vulnerable children and young people. For her PhD research, she worked with SMEs, using virtual reality to support apprentices' work-based learning, developing a three-way partnership between education provider, SME and apprentice.

India (IST) 14.00pm – 16.30pm

Due to the overwhelming response from our first two workshops and the full support of the Association of Indian Universities, QASPIR has opened an exclusive and limited follow on workshop for the participants of Online Learning for Faculty.

Educational Technology has huge potential to change both teaching and learning. There's been a move away from traditional lessons, where a lecturer is simply delivering information to a passive audience. With the use of technology, you're able to enhance and also extend the learning environment. It's integrated more within your lessons. It's becoming the norm. But it just makes a lot of things more convenient. It allows us to use resources from across the world in our own teaching. So, to maximise the time that we have with students. It's made us interact more, because it's something new. It's always nice to adopt new things.

We have the ability with the use of technology to use things that young people use in their day to day life, to help them learn makes learning more accessible. It means that students can be very independent with their learning, and take more control, rather than relying on the instructor and waiting for them, or other students in the class as well.

This course opens instructors up to a much wider range of resources, showing you what to look for and how to choose. Students these days demand more and expect more, so the idea of using technology in education is a necessity. This course will cover a wide range of educational technologies including polling and survey tools, flipped learning, feedback and assessment tools, quizzes, animation, screen-casting and much more.

Educational Technologies: What to look for and how to choose

April 22. 10.00am / 14.00pm

Module 1: Technologies for Content Creation

- Enhancing tools and materials you already use
- Low-tech, low-complexity video recording
- Using small interactive tools with big impact
- E-learning developing tools

By the end of module 1, you should be able to:

1. Explain how some of the tools available might help with certain learning objectives
2. Start making informed decisions about which tools you might try in your own context.

April 23. 10.00am / 14.00pm
