Introduction

As we are all aware that the government of India adopted the Reproductive, Maternal, Newborn, Child, and Adolescent Health (RMNCH+A) framework since 2013. It essentially aims to address the major causes of mortality and morbidity among both women and children. This framework also helps to understand the delays in accessing and utilizing healthcare services. Based on the framework, in healthcare industries, continuing professional development is paramount, especially for midwives and neonatal nurses. The Bharati Vidyapeeth (Deemed to be University), College of Nursing, Sangli is hosting International conference on the theme "Emerging competencies in Midwifery and neonatal practices: The Nursing perspective. The conference aims at providing learning opportunities related to specific knowledge and skills set for each midwife and neonatal nurse for enhancing the emerging competencies. Proceeding of the conference includes the provision of scientific sessions, workstations, panel discussions, posters, and paper presentations with aim to uplift the knowledge and skills of nurses attending the conference to deliver quality Maternal & Neonatal care. Through which we would assure our commitment to "Social Transformation through Dynamic Education".

The objectives of the conference –

At the end of the conference the participants will be :

1. Empowered as safe birth attendants through orientation to safe delivery App.
2. Acquainted with recent researches related to Maternal care.
3. Aware of Health literacy in Maternal & Neonatal care.
4. Trained to deliver care to the mother and new-born by using technological advancements.
5. Gaining knowledge about family centred approach in Maternal & Neonatal care.
6. Understanding significance of surfactant therapy.
7. Discussing therapeutic evidence-based approaches and their clinical implications.
