

PhD Induction Programme 2025

The successfully conducted the PhD Induction Programme for the 2025 batch on Friday, 5 December 2025, at the institute premises, Sangli–Miraj–Kupwad, Maharashtra.

The programme was organized to formally welcome newly admitted PhD scholars and orient them towards the research ecosystem of the institute. Director Dr. Pallavi Jamsandekar addressed the gathering and emphasized the significance of quality research in higher education. She highlighted IMRDA's contribution as a recognized research centre and encouraged scholars to pursue ethical, impactful, and socially relevant research.

Head of the Research Cell, Dr. Pratap Desai, briefed the scholars about the PhD programme structure, research regulations, coursework, and the step-by-step process involved in successful completion of the doctoral programme. He also guided students on expectations related to publications, reviews, and timelines.

Research guides and faculty members were present for the induction, interacting with scholars and extending their support. The session concluded with an interactive discussion, setting a positive and motivating tone for the PhD journey of the 2025 batch.