The Department of Public Health Dentistry actively participated in the “Swasth Nari Sashakt Parivar Abhiyan”, an initiative aimed at promoting the health and empowerment of women and families through preventive and educational health programs. As part of this campaign, 15 dental screening camps were successfully conducted across various community locations.

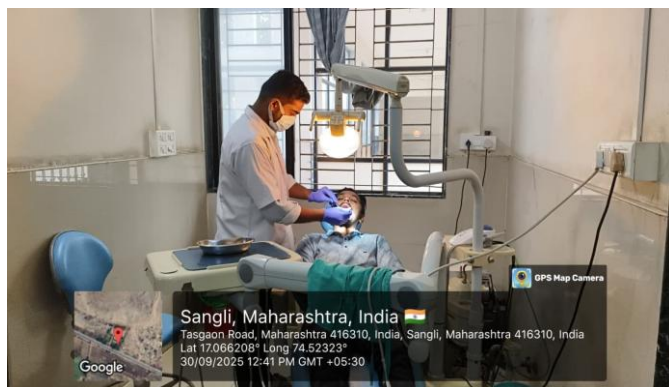

The primary objectives of the program were to enhance oral health awareness, provide free dental screening and consultation services, and educate the community on preventive oral health practices. Each camp included comprehensive oral examinations, distribution of educational pamphlets, and one-on-one oral health education sessions with dietary counselling which focus on the importance of oral hygiene, regular dental visits, and proper brushing techniques. A major emphasis was placed on tobacco cessation counselling, wherein participants were educated about the harmful effects of tobacco use and were guided through strategies and available support systems to help them quit. The initiative received an enthusiastic response from the community, especially women beneficiaries, who appreciated the accessibility of preventive dental services and health education.
