The session commenced with Dr. Nilofer M. Shaikh welcoming Dr. Chaitrali Gogawale introducing the speaker. The lecture began with an engaging Mr. Bean comedy video depicting an attempt to help a person who had collapsed on the street. The humorous and incorrect approach shown in the video was used as an effective teaching tool to initiate discussion on what should actually be done when a person collapses or becomes unresponsive.

The speaker explained the basic steps of responding to an emergency, including assessing the scene and responsiveness of the person, seeking help, activating emergency medical services, and promptly initiating appropriate life-saving measures. The students were introduced to the principles of Basic Life Support (BLS) and the correct procedure for performing Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation (CPR).

Students asked questions and participated in the discussion. The lecture was interactive and clinically oriented, enabling students to understand the practical importance of BLS and emergency preparedness in day-to-day clinical practice. The session concluded with a Vote of Thanks delivered by Dr. Priyanka S Dhamal.
